Reds-In-Army Inquiry Defied

Two Who Helped Indoctrinate GIs Balk At Questions

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Two men whose World War II assignment was to help indoctrinate American soldiers refused today to say whether they were Communist party members at the time.

A third said he was a party member for about a year and a half before the war, but told the Senate Internal Subcommittee he was not a Communist at the time he helped prepare "Army talks" which were used in orientation of World War II GIs.

All three served in the Army's Information and Education Division, which among other things helped to explain to the soldiers why they were fighting.

Stephen M. Fischer of New York City, former newspaperman now on the advertising promotion staff of the Scientific American Magazine, said he was a party member from the spring of 1940 until the fall of 1941.

Fifth Amendment Invoked

Richard L. Criley, a onetime Army captain and now a Chicago hood carrier, and Luke W. Wilson of Wellfleet, Mass., who served as an enlisted man, invoked the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination when asked about Communist activities.

The subcommittee did not go into the work actually done by Criley and Wilson, but two other witnesses testified they had encountered Red propaganda in the Army's Information and Education Division.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), presiding at the hearings, said the two-day sessions are expected "to sketch the pattern of (Communist) activity in seeking to mold the minds of our fighting men through Communist propaganda."

J. Kenneth Kerr of Baltimore, a 53-year-old insurance claim agent who identified himself as a former counter-intelligence agent, said he found copies of the Russian Embassy's information bulletin in a class room at Camp Pickett, Va.

"GI Plan For America"

A small group at the camp sponsored "a GI plan for post-war America," which among other things called for the sharing of all atomic secrets, Kerr said.

He related that in an effort to get the entire camp to approve the plan, the group called a mass meeting attended by about 1,000 soldiers to vote on it. But he said the soldiers found the ballot boxes stuffed and many left the meeting in disgust. He said he did not believe the plan was dreamed up by those who sponsored it, but he never found out whose idea it really was.

Ralph de Toledano, an associate editor of Newsweek Magazine, said a Russian propagandist was among the lecturers at an Information and Education Division course at Cornell University.

He named the man as Vladimir Kazakevich, and said he once heard him sharply criticize the U. S. Army and praise the Soviet Union.

Illiterates Lose Guatemala Vote

GUATEMALA, July 6 (AP)—Guatemala's new military government today barred illiterates from voting in the nation's elections. Communists in this Central American nation have had wide support among the uneducated peasants.

A decree published by the five-man junta that took over following the ouster of Communist-backed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman ordered future balloting must be obligatory, secret and limited to those able to read and write.

The junta also published a list of persons prominent under the Arbenz regime whose assets have been frozen by the new regime. They included Arbenz, ex-Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello and a number of the nation's top Reds.

Arbenz and Toriello reportedly have taken diplomatic asylum in the Mexican embassy here. Junta officials insist no safe conducts have yet been requested to enable them to leave the country.

Trade For Yanks Nabbed By Czech Guards Rejected

BAERNAU, Germany, July 6 (AP)—West German border police said tonight they received and rejected a Czech bid to trade seven U.S. Army men seized Sunday for three Czech political refugees. U. S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg said it had nothing to do with the Czech-German negotiations.

The Army added it hoped to obtain the release of the Americans "soon and without difficulty" by other means.

The Americans, a captain and six enlisted men from the medical detachment of an artillery battalion, apparently were grabbed by Czech border guards when the soldiers strayed across the border while on a liberty sightseeing trip. Their names have not been disclosed pending their release.

Emil Preiss, West German border police commander, said tonight the Czechs had insisted on trading the men for the three Czechs who fled to the West recently. He added the Germans had rejected the barter proposal at "the last meeting with the Czechs." He continued: "There is nothing we border police can do any more. We have tried everything possible, but we were unsuccessful. The next step is up to the Americans."

House Approves Bill Prayed For By Nuns

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—A bill for whose passage nine Italian nuns have been praying for four years cleared the House by unanimous approval today and went to the Senate.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Morano (R-Conn.), would allow the nuns, now stationed at Stamford, Conn., to remain permanently in the United States.

They entered this country in 1948 and were originally required to leave in 1950, but were granted a deportation stay while legislation in their behalf was prepared.

Boys Rescued After Night Atop 100-Foot Bridge Pier

PITTSBURGH, July 6 (AP)—Two young brothers spent a terror-filled night atop a 100-foot-high bridge pier but swung to safety in a boat-swain's chair today in a dramatic 2½-hour rescue.

A pair of veteran bridge painters snatched the youngsters from their lofty perch while hundreds of spectators—including their horrified father—watched.

The youngsters, Ronald, 8, and William Hughes, 6, disappeared shortly before dusk last night. They apparently climbed down a catwalk beneath the Westinghouse deck and slid down to the pier.

The bridge, about 300 feet high, spans Turtle Creek and railroad tracks. It is about 12 miles east of Pittsburgh.

Highway Is Warped, Water Lines Broken

RENO, Nev., July 6 (AP)—A jarring earthquake injured 12 sailors early today, buckled walls in the little town of Fallon and warped a major highway.

The sailors at the Fallon Naval Auxiliary Station all escaped with minor injuries, mostly from flying glass. Some were thrown from bed by the violent tremor which was felt as far away as San Francisco and Fresno, Cal.

Operations at the base were suspended to clean up the debris.

The quake, violent enough to cause heavy damage in a heavily populated area, was centered in the farming community of Fallon, a town of about 3,000 situated 60 miles east of Reno.

Water mains were cracked, power was temporarily cut off and walls of buildings buckled. A 15-foot strip of U.S. 50 sank 5 feet without cracking the asphalt.

"It was a miracle no one was hurt badly," Sheriff George Wilkins said. "The walls just buckled out. Thank God it happened early in the morning."

The first tremor was recorded at 4:14 a.m. It was felt from the San Francisco Bay area as far as Wendover, Nev., just west of the Utah state line.

Police switchboards in Reno and Carson City—the two heaviest populated areas in Nevada to feel the shocks—were jammed with calls.

Although no damage was reported in either city, residents said they had to hold on to their beds to keep from being thrown to the floor.

Storm Whips Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis., July 6 (AP)—A violent storm which the U. S. Weather Bureau said "appeared to answer all the descriptions of a tornado" whipped a section of southeastern Wisconsin late this afternoon.

A mother and three small children were hospitalized with what attendants described as apparently minor injuries after their cottage at Lake Mills was blown down by the wind. Lake Mills is some 30 miles west of here, close to the main part of the storm.

Preliminary damage reports were thin, but appeared to include many well-equipped barns in the rich dairyland section of Wisconsin.

Youth Who Pulled Own Tooth Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., July 6 (AP)—A 17-year-old youth who pulled his own tooth with a pair of pliers and probed for the root with a rusty nail is dead.

He was Bobby Robertson, who lived with a brother in a trailer park. He died yesterday of blood poisoning.

Bobby yanked out the abscessed tooth last Friday. Afraid a root had broken off, he probed the cavity with a nail.

Blood poisoning set in and Bobby was removed to Memorial Hospital. Doctors' efforts to prevent the spread of poisoning were unsuccessful.

Troopship Docks Today

SEATTLE, July 6 (AP)—The transport Gen. W. A. Mann will dock here at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow with 2,405 passengers from the Far East. The Military Sea Transportation Service said today. All but 295 of those aboard are military men returning on rotation.

U. S. Friendship Most Important, Churchill Says

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill came home tonight with a cautious warning he had not "entirely" ironed out his foreign policy disputes with President Eisenhower. But he emphasized, "Nothing comes before the true and lasting friendship between Britain and the United States."

Before he embarked from the liner Queen Elizabeth after a five-day voyage from New York, the 79-year-old Prime Minister radioed a summons that carried a tone of urgency for the British Cabinet to meet him tomorrow morning and again Thursday.

Churchill Looking Fit

Smiling and looking fit, Churchill met newsmen at the dock in Southampton and told them:

"We hoped to be judged not only by the immediate reception of our efforts, but also by their influence on the future course of events and, after all, nothing comes before the true and lasting friendship between Britain and the United States."

"Of course I have not yet been able to grasp the reaction to our mission which has taken place over here, but there is no doubt we shall hear something about in the House of Commons in the near future."

Contrast Is Noted

"But I can tell you I am sure that by trying our best in the United States to make good understandings and solid agreements possible between us we have not entirely failed. But it would be a mistake to think everything can happen all at once."

Churchill did not elaborate. Diplomats in London saw Churchill's statement contrasting with the Washington communiques on the outcome of the talks—especially his apparent emphasis that some Anglo-American differences were still outstanding. Normally, he goes out of his way to answer all the descriptions of a "tornado" whipped a section of southeastern Wisconsin late this afternoon.

Anti-Red Labor Bill Advances

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—A bill to add "Communist-infiltrated" organizations to those now subject to the Subversive Activities Control Act was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee today.

At present the law applies to Communist-action or Communist-front organizations.

The bill, which was developed by a task force of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee headed by Sen. Butler (R-Md.), would apply to labor organizations determined to be Communist-infiltrated. Such labor organizations would lose their bargaining rights in that the National Labor Relations Board would be precluded from certifying them.

A labor organization could retain its bargaining rights if the membership purged itself of Communist leadership.

The Subversive Activities Control Board would determine if an organization was Communist-infiltrated, just as it now has the responsibility of determining if an organization is a Communist-action group or a Communist-front.

Powder Puff Derby Field Reduced To 46

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 6 (AP)—Disqualifications narrowed the field to 46 planes as the last one crossed the finish line in the eighth annual Powder Puff Derby today—four days and 2,000 miles after it started in Long Beach, Calif.

The last plane to land—at 4:28 p.m. (EST)—carried Miss Jean Bartel, Miss America of 1943, as copilot to Lauretta Foy of Van Nuys, Calif. Six minutes earlier, Pilot Pauline Glasson and copilot Louise Clarkson, both of Corpus Christi, Tex., put down in their Cessna 140. The deadline was 5 p.m.

Pat Davis Arnold of Hartford, Conn., with Anne Bridge of Boston at her side, were the only others to arrive after noon—landing at 1:49 p.m.

Bonus Bill Clears Senate

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The Senate today passed and sent to the House a bill setting up a new scale of re-enlistment bonuses paid to servicemen and women who re-enlist upon expiration of their term of service.

House Probers Of Justice Dept. Criticize Clark

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—A House subcommittee reported today its 1953 investigation of the Justice Department produced "no conclusive evidence of wrongdoing on the part of Tom C. Clark when he was attorney general, but a strong inference" that he was responsible for some of the things found wrong.

Clark, a member of the Supreme Court since 1949, headed the Justice Department for much of the period covered by the investigation. He declined last June an invitation to testify, and the subcommittee report said that left the inference of responsibility.

The report was issued by Chairman Keating (R-N.Y.) of a five-man Judiciary subcommittee.

One of the Democratic members, Rep. Byron G. Rogers of Colorado, accused Keating of making "completely baseless" statements about Justice Clark, an "unwarranted political release . . . of his proposed libelous report."

Eight Main Findings

There were eight main findings in the subcommittee report:

1. The State Department tried to delay and impede a grand jury investigation of infiltration of the United Nations staff by subversive Americans.

2. Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan was wrong when he insisted the Justice Department had agreed to hold off FBI intervention in police brutality cases in New York.

3. The Justice Department provided "a clear instance of improper action" by dismissing indictments against Roy E. Crummer, a Kansas City bond dealer accused of mail fraud. The report said "pressure and favoritism" were factors in the dismissal.

4. Dismissal of two indictments returned by a "runaway" grand jury at Nashville, Tenn., was "achieved by pressure on the department . . . a flagrant distortion of the law-enforcement process."

Grand Jury Hampered

5. Grand jury efforts in San Francisco "to clean out inefficiency and corruption among local federal officials" were hampered by the department at Washington.

6. Clark's deputy, Peyton C. Ford, "committed 'rank abuse of the powers of his office' in settling for a nolo contendere plea and a compromise civil payment the case against Dr. Olaf O. Olson. Olson was a St. Paul physician accused of tax fraud. The subcommittee said Ford's "evasive account of the matter to the subcommittee deserves additional censure."

7. The records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service "are inadequate and loosely administered and the service's responsible officials exhibited a surprising lack of knowledge of policies and procedures."

8. "The subcommittee deeply regrets that former Atty. Gen. Tom Clark chose to withhold his cooperation. A strong inference remains that he was responsible for some of the conditions the subcommittee has found most worthy of criticism."

Scientist's Wife Converted To Pipe

LA JOLLA, Calif., July 6 (AP)—The Yale scientist who believes his research shows heavy cigarette smoking contributes to lung cancer and heart disease has converted his wife to a pipe.

"I'm not a confirmed pipe smoker yet," said Mrs. Edward Cuyler Hammond whose husband is professor of biostatistics at Yale and director of statistical research for the American Cancer Society.

"I still sneak a few cigarettes a day," she added today at La Jolla Beach Club, where she and Hammond are vacationing, "but the pipe has helped me get down to about half a pack each day." She previously had smoked three packs a day.

Kerr Has Slight Okla. Vote Lead

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 6 (AP)—Sen. Robert S. Kerr fought the political battle of his career tonight as first scattered returns were tabulated in Oklahoma's primary election.

He and former Gov. Roy J. Turner—like Kerr, an oil millionaire—ran nip and tuck. Unofficial returns from 86 of the state's 3,155 precincts gave Kerr 5419 votes to 4475 for Turner in the race for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate.

The Democratic governor's race opened in a two-man race with 14 other candidates trailing far behind. Sen. Raymond Gary, Madill, had 4298 votes to 4268 for William O. Coe, Oklahoma City attorney, in 98 precincts.

It was still far too early, however, to see a trend developing. The election was held with five counties under martial law because of reported election irregularities. Five other counties had plainclothes officers at polling places under directions of Gov. Johnston Murray to watch for violations.

Murray cannot succeed himself in office but his wife, Mrs. Willie Murray, is a candidate to succeed him. In early tabulations she was running sixth with 517 votes.

Youth Shot To Death By Pilot As He Tries To Pirate Plane

CLEVELAND, July 6 (AP)—Raymond Kuchenmeister, who was only 15 but weighed 260 and wanted to be "treated like a man," was shot to death today by the pilot of an American Air Lines plane he tried to commandeer with an empty gun. He wanted to go west and get a job.

"This is my ticket," the 5-foot-11 youth told the man at the gate of the Cleveland Airport as he showed a .38-caliber revolver.

He barged out to the loading ladder and brushed past a stewardess, asking where the captain was and telling her to "leave the door open for my brother."

None of the 58 passengers on the flight (No. 153) from New York to Mexico City, made any move to interfere as the boy entered the pilot's compartment. Few of them knew anything was amiss while Raymond pointed his weapon at the crew and ordered them to fly him to Mexico.

Air Force Tests New Fighter Able To Fly 1,500 MPH

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The Air Force announced today its new daylight jet fighter, the Lockheed XF104, is flying successfully.

The brief announcement did not comment on unofficial but reliable reports that the stripped-down "air superiority" fighter is a truly sensational one—that it weighs only half as much but is twice as fast as today's swiftest operational jets.

One source has indicated that the sleek sliver of aluminum, now being tested at Edwards Air Force Base, in California, has attained speeds in level flight of about 1,500 an hour.

Powered By Sapphire Engine

The Air Force also disclosed for the first time that the XF104 is powered by a Curtiss-Wright J65 Sapphire engine rated at more than 7,200 pounds of thrust.

This is the same engine used in the Navy's North American FJ3 Fury fighter and Douglas A4D Skyhawk Bantam atom bomber, and in the Air Force's Martin B57 twin-jet night intruder bomber and the Republic F84F Thunderstreak fighter-bomber and RF84F Thunderflash reconnaissance fighter.

The only previous Air Force news release on the XF104 was a 52 word announcement 10 months ago that a contract had been signed with Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif., for prototypes of the fighter.

XF104 Called "Gee Whizzer"

An air superiority fighter is designed to establish local superiority in a given area by sweeping the skies of enemy planes. This implies light weight, great maneuverability and unusual speed.

In connection with today's announcement that the XF104 made its first flight last February, Air Force Secretary Talbott said, "this contract with Lockheed represents one part of the U.S. Air Force's continuing program to press aggressively the development of superior weapons."

Lockheed said test pilots call the XF104 the "Gee Whizzer."

Although no specifications or performance figures have been released, the lightweight plane is said to have a straight, very thin wing and a span of only 28 feet.

Hooover Group Might Handle Whole Inquiry

Senator Hints He'll Turn Over Evidence To Clark Task Force

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he may turn over to a Hoover commission "task force" the evidence on which he has based his charges of Communist infiltration of the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency.

McCarthy's statement, on his return from an 18-day vacation trip about which he still made mystery, sounded like a move to let the task force, headed by Gen. Mark Clark, handle the whole inquiry, although McCarthy carefully refrained from going that far in talks with newsmen.

The senator's recent threats to investigate the CIA, a clearing house for American espionage work, had threatened to become a new sore point in relations between McCarthy and the Eisenhower administration.

Senator Raps Pentagon

In interviews, one of them recorded for television, McCarthy also:

1. Declared that an FBI report on two aides to his Senate Investigations subcommittee discloses "nothing that in any way would justify, even remotely" the Pentagon's refusal to grant them security clearance.

2. Announced he intends to go ahead with plans to have the subcommittee investigate his charges of Communist infiltration of U.S. defense plants.

3. Said he believes he has induced Francis P. Carr, the subcommittee's staff director, to reject some offers of better paid jobs in private enterprise and stay on this one.

McCarthy refused point blank to say where he went on the vacation trip he started June 19, two days after the windup of the McCarthy Army hearings. "I'm not going to tell you," he said.

Were Investigating Hensel

McCarthy told newsmen he wonders whether "perhaps it was an unusual coincidence" that the Defense Department rejected applications for security clearance for two subcommittee aides.

He said—but refrained from using their names—that both had been investigating H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense, who was one of the principals in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

The subcommittee has declined to name the two aides officially, but there have been widely published reports that they are Donald A. Surine, a former FBI agent, and Thomas La Vena, former Secret Service agent.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), who presided at the McCarthy-Army hearings has asked McCarthy for a subcommittee meeting to consider why two staff aides lack security clearance.

French Planes Bomb Vietnam

PARIS, July 6 (AP)—French military planes flew 150 sorties yesterday to bomb Vietnamese forces harassing French Union outposts at Hung Yen and Lekhu, about 40 miles southeast of Hanoi, the French Press Agency reported today from Hanoi.

This area is the extreme southeastern point of the new French defense line protecting Hanoi and its port, Haiphong.

The report quoted a military spokesman that Monday otherwise was a quiet day on the fighting fronts except in the Vinh Yen-Viet Tri sector northwest of Hanoi, where a French Vietnamese mobile group clashed with the Vietminh, killing 40 of the rebels.

On the Hanoi-Haiphong road, the Vietminh raided the village of Nam Sach and kidnapped about 20 of its inhabitants, the spokesman said.

TOKYO, Wednesday, July 7 (AP)—Peiping radio said today French and Vietminh negotiators at Trung Gia agreed Monday to begin exchanging sick and wounded prisoners of the Indochinese war July 14.

Japanese Charge U. S. Group Set Up To Purge Royal Family

"Protected" By Acheson, Newspaper Says

TOKYO, July 6 (AP)—The English language Japan News said today the occupation policies of a U. S. government group dedicated to purging the royal family and abolishing big business got communism off to a flying start in postwar Japan.

The newspaper said the group was "protected" by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

In Washington, State Department officials denied there was ever an occupation group set up to purge the royal family. A spokesman said U. S. policy was just the opposite.

As to abolishing big business, the spokesman said it was routine after World War II for the Allies to dissolve heavy industry and cartels to make it difficult for Japan and Germany to make war again.

Japan News carried long excerpts of what the newspaper said was an official State Department secret report written in Tokyo in 1948 and sent to the department in Washington. It was prepared by a responsible official, the News said, and was obtained from an American connected with the U. S. occupation here. It did not identify the report or the writer.

The Japan News is published primarily for the British community in Japan and prints an edition for Commonwealth troops in Japan and Korea.

The report pictured a struggle in U. S. government quarters between two groups with sharply different policies for Japan.

One group led by Joseph Grew, prewar ambassador to Japan, wanted to retain the Emperor system and held that Japanese business interests were mostly opposed to the militarists.

The News said: A group which had by this time (1945) infiltrated the State Department.

Holiday Auto Toll Below Forecast

[By The Associated Press] Traffic fatalities over the July 4th weekend ran nearly 20 per cent below the forecast of the National Safety Council final figures showed today.

A total of 348 persons lost their lives in automobile accidents during the three-day period from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Monday. The council had predicted 430, based on experience in past years. The all-time high mark for a three-day weekend was 366 set in 1952.

"People appear to be behaving better on the highways," a council spokesman said. He added the trend had been apparent all year with each month showing a decrease from the same month last year.

Included in the nation's total of 623 violent deaths were 192 in drownings and 83 in miscellaneous accidents—4 of them from fireworks. Michigan with 33 and California with 32 lead all states in traffic deaths. Utah was alone with none.

Franco Holds First Press Conference Since Spanish War

MADRID, Spain, July 6 (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco declared tonight that coexistence between the Western and Communist worlds is impossible and the free world must beware of "opening breaches through which the enemy can penetrate."

The Spanish chief of state made this declaration in the first news conference he has held since the Spanish civil war in the 1930s.

He said that 10 years of trying to live peacefully with the Russians had been a failure and "we are in a worse position now."

Baltimore Cleans Up After Terrific Storm

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—Emergency crews went out today to pick up the pieces after the terrific storm system which raged yesterday over Baltimore and nearby sections.

The electrical storms left one dead, at least nine injured, trees uprooted and homes and automobiles damaged.

More than 2,000 telephones were knocked out of service in the Baltimore area alone. About 700 were still out today.

Electric power to thousands of homes was cut off. Up to 1½ inches of rain fell during the brief storm, much of it within a 10-minute period punctuated by lightning and winds exceeding 60 miles an hour.

James R. Butts, 13-year-old son of a Montgomery County farmer at Unit, was killed by a bolt of lightning.

Broadway is the longest street in the world.

Weapon Used To Slay Woman Sought In Lake

CLEVELAND, July 6 (AP)—Police in suburban Bay Village bought six powerful magnets today to search Lake Erie for the weapon used in the murder of Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard, 31-year-old sports-loving wife of an osteopath.

Also missing from their tree-shaded lakefront home are about 30 cubic centimeters of a synthetic morphine Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard kept in his doctor's bag and a white T-shirt he wore Saturday night when she was beaten to death and he suffered a broken neck.

Coroner Samuel R. Gerber counted 25 bone-deep gashes on the comely woman's head and said it was a crime of "anger and fury and frustration."

He discounted the missing drug, demerol, saying that it was unlikely a drug addict was in the house because other narcotics were left untouched.

The weapon, Gerber estimated after seeing the wounds, was a square metal rod about 18 inches long.

Police still want to ask more questions of Dr. Sheppard, who remains in Bay View Hospital, which is owned by him, two brothers and his father, all osteopaths.

One brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, declared the dead woman's husband was "not ready yet to stand the emotional upset that would result from further questioning. His mind is not yet lucid."

The injured man has a fractured vertebra, the brother continued, and will have to wear a brace for about six or eight weeks.

The 30-year-old husband, a water ski enthusiast who once played high school football, hopes to attend his wife's funeral tomorrow, however.

The United States, Russia and Venezuela are the world's largest sources of crude oil.

Coroner's Physician Says Heir's Death Not "Normal"

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—A coroner's physician said today that mail order heir Montgomery Ward Thorne "did not die by normal means" and the youth's socialite mother vowed to "spend every dime I have to find out what really happened."

Dr. Harry Leon, coroner's physician who made a chemical examination of young Thorne's vital organs, said traces of poisonous wood alcohol, morphine and barbiturates were found.

"It's a suspicious case," he said. "I know this. He did not die by normal means."

Thorne, who was to inherit nearly two million dollars from his late father's estate, was found dead in his tiny $75-a-month room June 19—10 days after he revised his will.

Dr. Leon said young Thorne's body contained traces of both ethyl and methyl (wood) alcohol. The combination of the alcohols and other sedatives, he added, was "enough to kill."

He said there was no evidence of murder but that he "couldn't say" exactly how death occurred.

The coroner's report came as Thorne's mother made her first appearance before the coroner's jury investigating the death. She did not attend two previous hearings, claiming illness.

Mahoney Gains Three Votes In Slow Queen Annes Recount

Rival Lawyers Engage In Numerous Tiffs

CENTREVILLE, Md., July 6 (AP)—George P. Mahoney, battling to snatch the Democratic nomination for governor from Dr. H. C. Byrd, gained three popular votes today as officials finished checking only one of 18 ballot boxes in the Queen Annes County recount.

After an entire day of wrangling between lawyers of the two candidates, county officials said Byrd's lead in the 1st Election District had been whittled from 143-111 to 137-108. Nine ballots—six for Byrd and three for Mahoney—were thrown out because they were not properly marked.

Byrd went into the recount with a 53-vote edge in the county and a loose grip on the three votes it has in the nominating convention. In Maryland the nominating votes of a county go to the candidate who polls the most popular votes in that county.

Byrd's state-wide lead in nominating votes was 80-72. In popular votes, which determine the winner of the nomination only if there is a tie in nominating votes, he led by 163,654 to 161,143.

As the tedious ballot-by-ballot recount dragged on, Byrd lawyer William C. Walsh and Mahoney attorney Hyman Pressman engaged in numerous tiffs.

At one point Pressman moved that the board of supervisors throw out the entire ballot box on grounds that a substitute judge at the polling place had not been properly sworn in. The board refused to rule on the motion.

Pressman also formally petitioned Circuit Judge William R. Horney to order that all unused ballots from 1st Election District impounded. He contended there was a violation of procedure in that 410 ballots were sent to officials in the district, which has only 381 registered voters. The number sent, he said, exceeded the proper allowance of 10 per cent in addition to the number of registered voters.

Earlier in the day Mahoney's

Brazil Coffee Season Ends With Carryover

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 6 (AP)—Brazil finished its 1953-54 coffee season with an unexpectedly high carryover of nearly 3,100,000 bags, according to figures released today by the Brazilian Coffee Institute.

The high amount is expected to put additional pressure on the government of Brazil to modify its minimum export price of 87 cents a pound.

Today's project calls for completion of the cloverleaf interchange at 301 and 1.74 miles of dual highway from that point west to just beyond the Popes Creek branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad. About half a mile of the present Collingwood Road also will be relocated.

Post-Holiday Car Crashes Kill 4

(By The Associated Press)

Four persons died in automobile accidents during the first 10 hours of Tuesday in Maryland. Five were killed during the long Fourth of July weekend between 6 p.m. Friday and Monday midnight.

Three of the deaths occurred Tuesday on Sawmill Curve of Route 301, about a mile south of Glen Burnie when a southbound car and a northbound truck loaded with concrete blocks met head to head.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Walker of Brooklyn, N. Y., were pinned in the front seat of the car and killed. Frank L. Ashley, 53, of Baltimore, was smashed to death in the cab of the truck driven by his 22-year-old brother, Alvin.

James Ernest Elliott, 29, of West-ernport also lost his life by being pinned in the wreckage of his car. The car hit a pole on Route 219 near Oakland, overturned and landed in shallow waters of Deep Creek Lake. Elliott couldn't move and drowned.

Williamsburg Firm Low On Highway Bid

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—C. H. Lawson Inc. of Williamsburg, Va., today submitted the apparent low bid of $799,898 for building the first phase of the extension of the Annapolis-Washington expressway from its present terminus on into the outskirts of Washington.

The expressway already is in service from Annapolis west to its junction with U. S. 301, about half the distance to Washington.

Permit Denied By Liquor Board

The Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County yesterday rejected an application for a Class D beer license by Alistine Spriggs, 111 Park Avenue in Frostburg.

The premises for the proposed establishment are located in a basement and for that reason did not meet the specifications of the liquor laws. The liquor law states that except for clubs and hotels no license shall be issued for premises which do not front on a public street and no blind or obstruction shall be allowed or permitted which may obstruct the view of persons passing along said street from a full view of such licensed premises.

A Class D beer license was granted Hazel M. Wilson for premises at 60 Bowery Street in Frostburg. The license was formerly held by Daniel L. Walker.

Gertrude N. Coyle was granted a Class D beer and wine license for premises at 36 Bedford Street. The permit was formerly held by Claude S. Keller.

Paul L. Boch, J. H. Schell and E. L. Zembower, officials of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department, were granted a one-day beer license for July 23.

Square dancing can add to your grace . . . it's fun, too, and good for the figure.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Bow to your partner and away you go!—into the routine of a gay, lighthearted square dance that's also first-rate exercise.

All dancing is fun, and fine exercise, too. Particularly good is the square dance that takes you across the floor, in and out of complicated patterns that stretch your legs and make your muscles tingle.

The vogue for square dancing seems to have taken hold across the country. Young folks and not-so-young alike are transferring the country barn dance to a city setting with spirit and enthusiasm.

Tones Muscles

The pattern of square dances—bowling, skipping, sliding hand clapping—bring into use muscles you may not be aware of before-hand. Don't be alarmed then, if you notice a slight stiffness. After a day or two this will disappear. The stiffness is nature's way of telling you're getting what you need in the area of exercise.

Square dancing offers training in grace, plus exercise that tones the muscles. The more familiar you become with the steps of a quadrille or the Virginia reel, the more easily and gracefully you'll move.

The Powers Girls know from experience that to act beautiful you must feel beautiful. You must banish every trace of awkwardness from your mind and body. You must encourage the complete control of every motion you make in order to display your natural grace to its best advantage.

Confident Grace

Acquiring this kind of confident grace is worth a bit of doing on your part. You can perform all kinds of exercise for your good looks. But you'll do more for your figure with an evening's active square dancing than by working out on the floor, vigorously, for an hour. Furthermore, you'll have fun becoming more graceful and more perfect of figure.

If you don't want to be quite so physically energetic as this type of dancing requires, follow the suggestions in my booklet, "Dance Through a Week to Beauty!" The original routines here (see below) will make you more limber, more poised and more beautiful—just as square dancing will do—but with spending less concentrated energy.

"DANCE THROUGH A WEEK TO BEAUTY"

Created EXCLUSIVELY for readers of this column, delightful solo dance steps anyone can do. They bring increased grace and reduced measurements as proved by test. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10¢ (in coin) to cover costs for a copy of DANCE THROUGH A WEEK TO BEAUTY.

Two Accidents Reported In Hampshire Co.

There were two highway accidents in Hampshire County, W. Va., over the Fourth of July holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Wade Muldoon, of Millwood, Va., were hurt when their machine upset near Springfield when Muldoon was attempting to pass another car on Route 28. The mishap occurred about 1:30 a. m. Monday.

Trooper C. D. Austin said that Muldoon was trying to pass another car when a third car approaching from the opposite direction came in view. In an effort to avoid a collision, Muldoon slammed on his brakes and the machine upset. Mrs. Muldoon complained of pains in her back.

In a head-on collision between two cars Monday night on U. S. Route 50, three miles east of Romney, two men were injured.

Richard A. Hartman, 25, of Beryl, W. Va., a sailor who was driving back to his Navy base, was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road by Sgt. Robert E. Schnell and Trooper Austin. He was jailed in Romney for a hearing.

The officers said that the second car in the crash was operated by Carl J. Smith, 54, of Hopwood, Pa., and Charles M. Warnecke, about 50, was a passenger. Smith suffered lacerations of the face and head and a bruised chest. Warnecke, also of Hopwood, suffered lacerations of the face and a bruised foot.

Smith drove off the side of the road and had come to almost a complete stop in an effort to avoid the collision, according to the officers. They said that this probably prevented death or serious injury in the mishap. Both men were treated by a Romney physician.

Draft Boards To Be Moved

Offices of Draft Boards 27, 28 and 29, which have been located in the Union Street County office building since early in World War II, will be moved to the second floor of the Post Office on Pershing Street.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has received notification of cancellation of the lease on the Union Street offices by the General Services Administration of the federal government. The cancellation is effective August 1.

The new quarters of the Selective Service draft boards in the Post Office were formerly occupied by the deputy U. S. marshal and have been used in recent years by the Red Cross during fund-raising drives.

P. Emmett Fahey, draft board chief clerk, said the move into the section of the flood control project.

Also referred to Nuzum and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan was the request of Second National Bank for renovation or replacement of a sewer across Baltimore Street and under its property. The sewer was built in 1854 and has caused considerable trouble. The bank wants to be reasonably sure its new building project is protected against future recurrences of trouble since the new building will be heavy and costly to tear up again.

State Roads Commission was granted permission to erect an historical marker on a plot just west of Route 40 in the Narrows on city-leased land.

Referred to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan was the application of Charles Paul Roeder to extend the time of his "park and shop" sign across North George Street at his privately-owned lot.

new quarters may be made within a few weeks.

Although no reason was given for the transfer of the draft board headquarters it is believed to be an economy move as the government will not have to pay rent in the future to the county.

The new quarters will also be more efficient as the Selective Service personnel will be able to confer with recruiters of the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps, who are located on the third floor at the Post Office building.

Water Use Increases

Water consumption the past week hit the 14,247,000 gallon mark, a report to the Mayor and Council showed yesterday. The water level at Lake Gordon is one foot, six inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon one-half inch above. Consumption for the week ending Sunday was 99,730,000 gallons compared to 93,090,000 the same period a year ago.

Property Exchange Deferred Until Appraisal Is Made

The outgoing Mayor and Council yesterday deferred action on an exchange of properties between the city and B&O Railroad until an appraisal is made.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan had recommended acceptance of the exchange affecting six lots on Laing Avenue which the railroad desires for a plot on Baker Street which the city needs to relocate an alley to make suitable entrances for garages.

Nuzum pointed out part of the land on Laing is involved in proposals for the Industrial Boulevard but the B&O has tentatively agreed to give the State Roads Commission right-of-way.

Question 'Fair Exchange'

Both Commissioners Lucile W. Roeder and John J. Long questioned the "fair exchange" involved and value of properties. Long said the city should know value of the properties, but Finan told council tax books did not contain the assessed value. However, he added, he felt the lots owned by the city are 3 to 1 less in value than the section the city seeks. The B&O, Nuzum said, had paid $2,500 for the plot it owns.

Finan pointed out, in connection with the proposal, that council last year sold five lots to Allegany Instrument Company for $25 each with the understanding industrial development must begin within 10 years or the property reverts to the city.

The B&O also asked for execution of a contract which covers an easement for a sewer the city built on B&O property for 120 feet. The sewer runs from Homer to Laing Avenue and then across the railroad's land, Nuzum said. Fee involved is $31 including $1 a year rental. The city will proceed with the contracts.

A number of month-end reports were read and filed.

Advertise For Bids

Commissioner Roeder was authorized to ask bids on two issues as follows: 2,000 lineal feet of 10-inch slip steel terra cotta pipe for a sanitary sewer from the intersection of Holland Street and Catskill Avenue to the city sewer near the County Home; and 120 lineal feet of 30 inch slip joint terra cotta pipe to replace a sewer across Second National Bank property on Baltimore Street. The pipe can be bought if it is needed to correct a situation at the site, Nuzum said.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson was authorized to issue three checks. They are: $24,345.45 to S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company as second estimate on Valley Street bridge work; $4,288.77 to George Construction Company as fifth estimate on construction of the Bedford Road sewer ejector station; and $872.07, to Niles, Barton, Marty Flynn residence, 883 Ridge-

Mrs. Roeder Notes Surplus In Street Department Fund

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, who left office yesterday as commissioner of streets and public property after two terms, said her department is turning back a sizeable surplus from department funds.

She said there are three reasons: (1) Lack of snow during the past winter; (2) work done under the sewer bond account with salaries of workers involved being paid from that fund instead of department funds; and (3) the accelerated gas line replacement program ers involved are also returned to the department fund. In leaving office, Mrs. Roeder said "I wish the citizens and new official family the best in the years to come."

Store Given $700 For Water Damage In Main Break

A compromise agreement between the outgoing Mayor and Council and Engle's Market, corner of Decatur and Baltimore Streets, settled for $700 a claim resulting from the break of a water main in August of last year.

Council approved payment and noted the market, located at the corner where the main broke, incurred approximately $1,100 damages. In view of the recent Circuit Court jury decision in favor of Lewis Tyree growing from the same incident, the order said it was though in the best interest to negotiate a settlement.

Details were worked out two weeks ago in a conference with I. W. Engle and Earl Seifarth.

Council also approved installation of two 3,000 gallon underground storage tanks at the Eichner Service Station, Bedford Street.

Agronomy Day Will Feature Use Of Ammonia

Wardensville Farm Plans July 30 Event

WARDENSVILLE, W. Va.—Application and uses of anhydrous ammonia will be one of the topics featured at the Reymann Memorial Experimental Farms Agronomy Day on July 30, C. J. Cunningham, farm manager, reports. An actual application demonstration and plots of crops treated with anhydrous ammonia will be exhibited.

Cunningham said that Agronomy Day visitors will be shown a blue-grass pasture treated with anhydrous ammonia in varying amounts, so that they may see the effect of different levels of application. A renovated pasture, consisting of orchard-grass growing on shale soil, will demonstrate the effect of ammonia application on plants growing on shadow soil. Corn, some with ammonia applied at planting time and some sidedressed about July 1, will be exhibited.

So that Agronomy Day visitors can see exactly how anhydrous ammonia is applied, application machinery will be demonstrated at the farm. The anhydrous ammonia is purchased as a liquid under heavy pressure. As it is released from the tank, it immediately vaporizes, and this vapor moves down flexible tubing to a chisel moving through the soil. As the vapor touches the soil, it combines with soil moisture to form the ammonium ion, which is then absorbed by the clay. Soil microbes convert and ammonium ion to nitrate, which plants are able to utilize quickly and efficiently.

Anhydrous ammonia contains the highest percentage of nitrogen found in common nitrogen sources. It is the cheapest form of nitrogen, but because of expensive application equipment, most farmers in West Virginia will be hiring custom equipment for its application, Cunningham said.

KEYSER—The $5,000 goal for completion of the work on the Keyser Swimming Pool has been reached, according to Carl F. Theis, Jr., city clerk, Tuesday. A Silver Spring family of three was badly injured Monday afternoon in a two-car crash on the Vale Summit Road at the intersection with Cherry Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Condon and their daughter, Patricia, 15, were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital where their condition was reported as "fair" last night.

State Police said Condon failed to stop when entering the highway and struck a machine operated by John L. O'Rourke, of Lonaconing. Condon, 39, suffered a possible fracture and severe lacerations of the left forearm. His wife, Ethel, 35, suffered a possible fracture of the left shoulder. Their daughter suffered a possible fractured skull and lacerations of the arms.

eran of two terms as finance commissioner.

Commissioner Long, who is ending two terms as police and fire commissioner, will become finance commissioner.

Explains Appointments

Mayor Eves in an explanatory statement following announcement of the new department heads said the order was not conceived in haste or without consultation with informed and unbiased advisors. He said it was too much to expect that the selection would meet with unanimous approval of those who elected the mayor and councilmen.

He continued:

"There seems to be a misconception in the minds of some as to how commissioners are selected. These assignments are made only for the term for which the commissioners are elected, and re-election does not carry with it the prerogative of continuance in a particular post."

No Method In Charter

"There is also the thought in the minds of many that the successful candidates may select their own posts, exercising priority in the order of the number of votes received. As a matter of courtesy, this has at times affected the choice of posts but there is no indication in the charter that such method should be used," the Mayor added.

"At the time of election voters usually consider the qualifications of a candidate for some particular department. Inasmuch as the assignment of departments is strictly up to the newly-elected Mayor and Council, the voters, rather than considering fitness for some department, should give due consideration to the overall qualifications of the candidate and his ability to work with whoever may be elected along with him to form the city government."

Civil Service Aid

"The transition from the days of the political 'green bag' to the era of civil service has gradually increased the number of capable staff members in the several departments," Mayor Eves said. "They now have the necessary know-how to conduct intelligently and effectively the departmental affairs of the city, so that it is no longer of prime importance that the commissioner immediately have an intimate detailed knowledge of his department."

"Rather, the commissioners should have administrative ability, so that as they work together the city will receive the benefit of their combined experience in the many phases of business and industry in which they have been engaged."

"Understandably, on many important matters to come before the council, there may be a wide divergence of opinion but I am most confident that each of the new commissioners will assist in the elimination of departmental friction and the achievement of a unity of purpose that will enable us to serve the City of Cumberland well in these four most important years now 'ad of us,' he concluded."

Keegan Cites 'Rumors'

Perhaps the briefest response came from Keegan, who told council and audience that because of "some rumors" he had nothing to say yesterday but would have a statement at next week's meeting.

Long said "I will continue to represent the best interests of all the people and I will always be willing and anxious to help in any way I can individuals and groups of citizens with their problems."

Edwards noted his deep interest in the Water Department and many improvements which have been made, not only at the source of the water supply but in the distribution system as well.

"It is my sincere hope to see," Edwards stated, "the completion of further improvements now on the planning board. And, lastly, may I have the wisdom and courage to support all matters pertaining to the immediate welfare and future development of the city we all love so well."

'Homecoming' For Buchholz

Buchholz, entering his third term after a two-year absence said "I am happy to be back; it's almost like a homecoming." He said he would try to make this a "progressive" administration and added he believed this a critical period in the city's history which the next four years will solve.

"I will be in there working for you," the new commissioner said.

Eves thanked those who had voted for him and said to those who had not that "the council is going to work for your interests as well as all others."

Wetback Roundup Making Headway

For the first time in more than a decade officers of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service believe they are making progress in attacking the "wetback" problem. They are checking the flow of Mexican laborers coming across the border illegally to work on American farms. And they are rounding up those already here and shipping them back home.

Illegal entries across the 2,000-mile border between the United States and Mexico have been averaging more than 100,000 a month, according to some estimates. The number of these laborers in California alone may reach 200,000.

To close the border, most of which is not even fenced, is a man-size job. And the necessity of tracking down the "wetbacks" already working on farms or in towns makes the assignment formidable.

After concentrating 700 border patrolmen and other immigration service personnel in Arizona and California the agency has begun to make headway. These men have been organized into overland patrols, highway block crews, inspection and search teams. Deportees averaged 2,000 a day during the first phase of the drive. The second phase of the operation has now begun, with 400 men moving north in two mobile "task forces" to extend the mopping up activities that had been concentrated near the border.

These task forces, consisting of 16 teams of 12 men each, are equipped with radio patrol cars, jeeps and trucks and are operating in conjunction with aerial observers in small planes. The Mexicans are merely sent back home. It would be impossible to prosecute them because the jails wouldn't hold them all. Their farmer employers accept the loss of their illegal labor philosophically. They also know that it is practically impossible to prosecute them.

Eventually the government plans to return most of the specially imported personnel to their regular posts. When the situation has been brought under control efforts will be made to keep it in hand with only a few more men than the 125 normally assigned to the California sector. But it is doubtful that the improvement will be permanent unless stricter laws are enacted.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Connecticut Story

Governor John Lodge of Connecticut is up for re-election in the Nutmeg State. The Democrats have nominated Abraham Ribicoff, who ran for United States senator in 1952, was defeated but produced 90,000 votes more than the rest of the Democratic ticket.

It is not questioned that John Lodge has been an effective governor. Also, he is an inept politician. As one of the functions of a man who chooses elective office as a career is to get himself re-elected, John Lodge is in trouble. He has not kept his party together; in fact, he has purged it of most of its tried leaders, some of whom were Taft men and others were too old-guard to please him.

Into this picture steps the vivacious and forensic Vivien Kellems who is running for governor on the Independent Republican party ticket. Estimates of what Miss Kellems can poll run from a low of 25,000 to a high of 100,000. Miss Kellems can draw votes only from Lodge, none from Ribicoff. Even the low figure, in this election and for this state, could defeat the Republican. Prescott Bush was elected to the United States Senate in 1952 by only 29,000 votes.

Abraham Ribicoff has the reputation of being an extraordinarily competent person, handsome, a brilliant orator, with no personal liabilities. He had served in the House of Representatives. He and his wife and children were born and educated in Connecticut. He is a Jew by religion.

John Lodge is also able, handsome and a good speaker, who can use Italian as well as English which is an advantage in Connecticut. He is an Eisenhower Republican. He had served a spell as a motion picture actor and in the Navy. His wife is of Italian origin and a beautiful woman.

All things considered, Lodge should have the advantage. Unfortunately the Republican party in Connecticut, while strong in the counties, is split statewide. I shall cite an example: The chairman of the Republican County Committee of Fairfield County, one of the most important in the state, is Bill Brennan. He is a powerful politician with a wide following. On the eve of the 1952 convention, Lodge purged Brennan as national committeeman because he was for Taft.

The purge was swift and unpleasant and left a permanent mark upon Brennan and his followers. I happened to be present at a public testimonial dinner in honor of Brennan shortly after the event and noted with no little surprise that official after official, including the lieutenant governor, was called upon to make a few remarks. It was a demonstration of continuing power.

While whenever I have met Republican politicians in Connecticut they speak well of John Lodge personally, they seem to go out of their way to praise the Democratic candidate, Abraham Ribicoff. It is an unusual demonstration of lack of partisanship in a campaign year. Its significance cannot be missed.

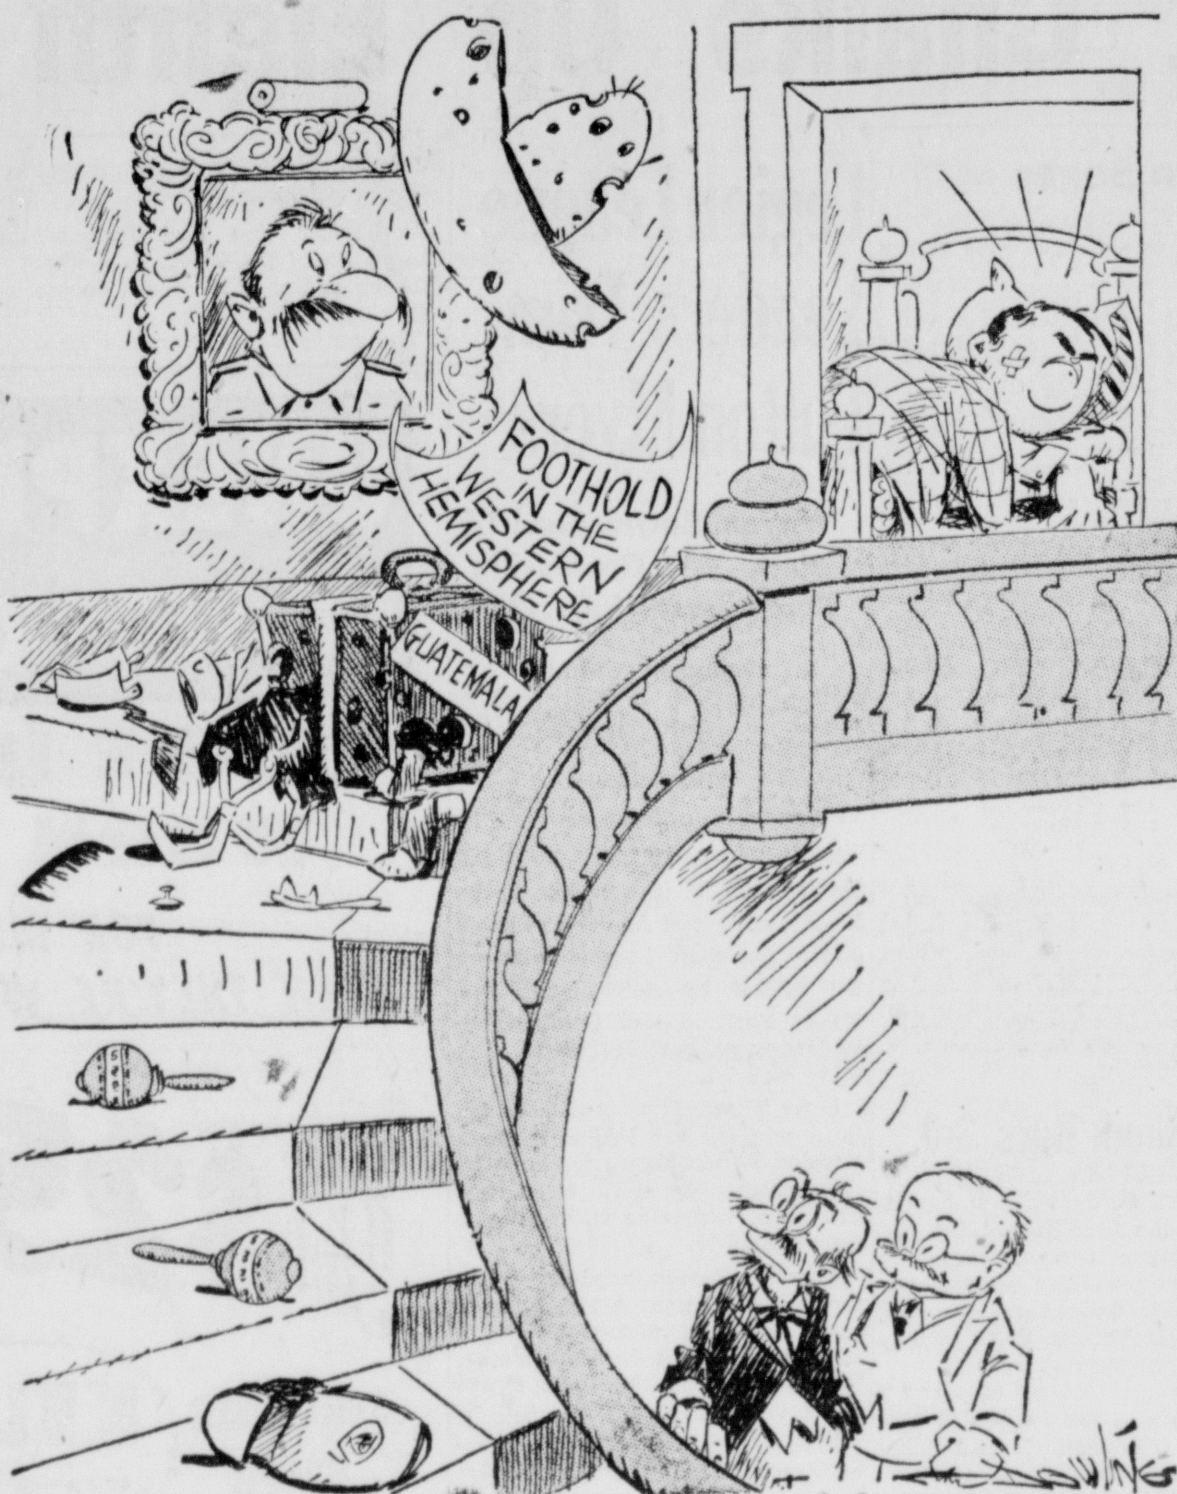

Certain areas of Connecticut are bedrooms of New York. Here New Yorkers have established homes which, at first, they occupied mostly during the summer. For income tax reasons, it has been advantageous to make the Connecticut home the permanent voting address. The New York influence has been of considerable importance in Connecticut.

But population-wise this influence is not as important as is generally assumed because the state has a large number of good-sized cities, highly industrialized, peopled by those who are deeply concerned with local affairs. Connecticut is principally populated by industrial workers whose mills and factories are within the state and by farmers. Italians, Poles, Lithuanians, Syrians, and peoples of many other national origins have settled in this state.

The principal problem that faces these people is how to keep industry from moving away from Connecticut to the South. The recent haters' strike in Norwalk shocked the entire state because it involved, and still does, the danger of important cities becoming ghost-towns. To the local people, this is more important than Guatemala and Indochina and the United Nations. Ribicoff, as a native, has already grasped this as his issue. It is to be presumed that when the time comes, Lodge and Ribicoff will use the same speech material on the subject, but Lodge remains an outsider from Massachusetts, while Ribicoff was born and bred in the state.

Looks Like Senor Georgi's Back Home

Support Of American People Vital To French, British

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The big mystery in world affairs today is not that the British government wants to see Red China admitted into the United Nations, but why the issue was raised at this time.

There is nothing new in the British or American positions. Everybody has known for some time that London favors the move and that Washington opposes it. Then why has the matter been given such widespread publicity at the moment, giving rise as it has to formal statements by the Republican leader and Democratic leader of the Senate reiterating the American opposition? It is no answer—as Representative McCormack, Democratic party leader in the House of Representatives, expresses it—that Congress is taking the "initiative" away from the executive branch of the government. To say this is to ignore the true situation, which is that the Department of State was gratified to have the Senate leaders proclaim their views publicly. For the State Department couldn't, in the very nature of things, say anything except in the privacy of diplomatic channels, and this wouldn't get very far toward swaying public opinion either here or abroad.

Britain Playing "Broker" Actually there wasn't much time given in the Churchill-Eisenhower conference to the discussion of the problem of admitting Red China to the United Nations. It was mentioned only briefly and didn't have the importance of even being made a topic on the agenda.

What, then, was back of it all? The most plausible explanation may be derived from these two points: 1. The British position historically is to play the role of "broker" between the two nations in conflict with each other. Probably there isn't the flimsiest idea in London that the wishes of the United States with respect to keeping Red China out of the U. N. would be rejected by two-thirds of the members of the United Nations Assembly. But by sticking to the Red China side, the British and perhaps the new French cabinet become the friends of the Peiping regime. This could mean a whole lot in East-West trade negotiations and other diplomatic moves and could even cause the Moscow government to make concessions to the British and French. The result, therefore, might bring benefits to the British and French without any substantial harm being done to the objective sought by the United States. For Red China would be kept out of the U. N. anyhow.

2. It is conceivable that London and Paris are totally unaware of the depth of feeling in the United States about Red China's aggression. To talk about the United States withdrawing from the U. N. if Red China is admitted may really become academic. For if the U. N. did admit Red China, its prestige would sink so low in the United States that the absence or presence of the United States delegates in the U. N. would be meaningless. Once an organization tears up its own pledged word and makes of a treaty a "scrap of paper," there is not much use worrying about how many meetings the American delegates would attend thereafter.

Aggressor Goes Unpunished For the truth is, 40,000 American boys are dead today because they were asked by their government to "repel aggression" in Korea. They gave their lives to what they were told was a great cause—the united action of the United Nations. That organization, moreover, passed in February 1951 a solemn resolution declaring Red China the "aggressor." Nothing has happened since to punish the aggressor. Because military forces were not permitted to accomplish that purpose, moral force alone remained the best means of ostracizing from world councils the government that had perpetrated the crime. Now moral force is collapsing, too.

Nobody here has any quarrel with the people in China but only with the war criminals in Peiping. To accept these evil men as brothers is to tell the people of all of Asia that the West is capitulating. It would mean that South Korea might then be strangled by Communist infiltration from Red China unless she decided to fight for her life. A resumption of fighting would bring new complications for the United States. Japan would be frightened, and the chance to build an army there for Far Eastern defense would be impaired. Admission of Red China indeed might set off a series of happenings that could bring on a general war. It is a dangerous step. That's why the Congress of the United States is speaking out frankly and bluntly now, and the State Department is not in the least disturbed by such plain talk.

Likewise, there is another meaning conveyed. If ideals are to be trampled on for the sake of expediency and appeasement, it may be hard to convince the American people that its soldiers should go to Europe to fight a third time. The support of the American people should be more important to the British and French governments than appeasing the Red China regime. Maybe it will be after the debate is over.

Tips On Avoiding Ringworm In The Summer Months

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Ringworm is a hot weather disease of the feet (athlete's foot). Heat and perspiration are made to order for the causative fungus because the rascals enjoy dark, damp, warm places. The lesson to be learned by those who are bothered along this line is to keep the feet dry. Summer time also is ringworm time because so many individuals go barefoot in bath houses and shower rooms, before and after the swim.

When the dip in the lake, ocean, or pool is over, the feet should be dried carefully after the shower, especially between the toes or other crevices where moisture accumulates. The parts may then be sprinkled liberally with a mild antifungal talc.

Those who perspire profusely should wear sandals or aerated shoes. If the toes are too close together, wisps of lamb's wool may be inserted to separate them. Should these simple measures fail, a drying agent such as 10 to 25 per cent solution of aluminum acetate may be helpful. One of the newer anti-perspirant tablets will serve as an alternate; these remedies are prescription products that cannot be purchased over the drug store counter.

Ringworm also is discouraged by keeping the skin of the feet in the best possible condition. Too much moisture macerates the tissues so that they are in no condition to battle the ringworm organism. Wearing well fitted shoes and hose will minimize the possibility of blisters, abrasions, and calluses. During the past decade we have lost much faith in the use of antiseptic foot baths in public showers and bathhouses. There also is no evidence that anti-fungal agents incorporated into flooring will reduce the incidence of ringworm. Bathers should wear slippers and wooden clogs. When wiping the feet, stand on a newspaper or paper towel, which is better than the customary bath mat because it is dry and disposable.

Many persons harbor the fungus in calluses in and around the toe nails. When the organisms get the upper hand, the disease flares up and the victim believes he has a fresh infection. This is why good foot hygiene pays dividends. Susceptibility plays a role; some men and women are always bothered whereas others escape even though they frequent the same swimming pools or share the same bathroom with victims of ringworm.

The best remedies not only kill the surface fungi but attack those beneath the skin. Therefore, the penetrability of the medication is more important than the strength of the solution. Soaking the feet in a 1:5,000 solution of potassium permanganate for 30 minutes once or twice a day is time honored. Other remedies include Whitfield's ointment, or one of the undecylenic compounds.

TOMORROW: Emotional aspects of tattooing.

HEART WORRY

Mrs. J. writes: I'm writing to ask if you can tell me anything different from what a couple of other doctors have told me. For 30 years I've had attacks where my heart beats hard and fast for an hour or more. These doctors tell me it is nervousness and not heart disease. Do you think it is my heart?

REPLY My hindsight leads me to believe that your physicians are correct. If they cannot find anything wrong with your heart after 30 years, it may be that your "ticker" is being prodded by your nervous system. Your problem may be solved by getting an electrocardiogram while your heart is beating hard and fast.

D IN ARTHRITIS

W. P. writes: Will vitamin D capsules help arthritis?

REPLY Ordinary vitamin D capsules have no effect on arthritis but large doses are followed occasionally by spectacular results. This treatment is not recommended, however, because of the danger of developing kidney complications.

MOUTH TUMORS

D. W. writes: Recently I had a successful operation on a mixed tumor of the parotid gland. My friends tell me these tumors grow back every few years. Is this true?

REPLY The parotid gland is in the neighborhood of the nerves that control the muscles of the face. Consequently, it is difficult to remove tumors entirely in this area. As a result, recurrences are common but this does not mean that the growths always come back.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

India's Prime Minister Nehru Charmed By Chou's Sweet Talk About Peace

By Drew Pearson

Heyday For Power Boys

WASHINGTON — Here is the inside story behind Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai's secret talks with Indian Prime Minister Nehru and Burmese Prime Minister U. Nu.

Technically, Chou En-lai was invited to both countries. But actually the Chinese Communists slipped around in advance, hinted that Chou would like to pay a visit, and fished for the invitation. It was then given.

The chief object of Chou's visit was a nonaggression pact with India and Burma before we can get them signed up in a Southeast Asia Defense Pact.

The American embassy reports that Nehru was simply charmed by the Chinese premier's sweet talk about peace.

NOTE — One of the most tragic mistakes of the Eisenhower administration in the Far East was the removal of Chester Bowles as ambassador to India on the eve of some of the most important discussions we have ever had with that country. Bowles, an intimate friend of Nehru's, was by all odds the most popular ambassador the U. S. has ever sent to India. George Allen, who replaced him, was doing an A-1 job in Yugoslavia. But it takes entirely different tactics to deal with Tito, the dictator, than with Nehru, the philosopher and mystic.

Senator Thyse Acts

Some senators don't like to tangle with big business in their home states, but Senator Thyse of Minnesota has been pressuring the Federal Trade Commission to investigate the big flour and soap companies, including one of his own supporters, General Mills of Minneapolis.

Some of the big flour and soap companies and have been promoting each other's products by cross-couponing. In other words, a box of soap will contain a coupon for a 10-cent reduction on a bag of flour. As a result, small soap and flour producers complained that they were being squeezed out of business by this cross-couponing between the big companies.

As chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee, Thyse was all set to demand an FTC investigation when his staff pointed out that General Mills is one of the worst offenders. But even though General Mills has been one of his big backers, Senator Thyse refused to pull his punches and wrote to the trade commission demanding the investigation.

Molotov To Malenkov

Here is the latest story going the rounds of Capitol cloakrooms.

Foreign Minister Molotov asked Premier Malenkov: "What do you think of this fellow McCarthy?" "I don't think much of his aims," replied Malenkov, "but I sure like his methods."

Russian Bear Grows

U. S. Ambassador Bohlen in Moscow has warned the Pentagon that the Russian High Command may order destroyers to escort all Soviet tankers and merchantmen in Far East waters.

The Russians are furious because Chinese Nationalist warships intercepted and seized one of their best tankers, and they probably will retaliate by daring the Nationalists to take on the Russian destroyers which will accompany them from now on.

The Russians know that the United States had a naval seaplane circling over the Russian tanker most of the time before it was seized. The plane was in direct contact with the Chinese Nationalists and tipped them off where to pick up the tanker. However, the United States did not have one of its own warships involved.

The Federal Power Commission is now so anxious to please the private power companies that it actually threw out 10 hours of testimony by its former chairman, Leland Olds, when he opposed the Idaho Power Company's plan for damming the Snake River.

Ex-Chairman Olds testified that the government should construct a high dam at Hells Canyon, which in the end would be cheaper for the taxpayers and would mean cheaper power rates for Idaho - Oregon users. After testifying for two half days, however, all he was able to get into the record was his name and address. Everything else was struck out by the presiding examiner, William J. Costello, at the request of the Idaho Power Company. They claimed it was irrelevant.

Costello also threw out the heart of the testimony by Clyde Ellis, manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. Ellis also supported government development of Hells Canyon and opposed the Idaho Power Company.

This is another example of why the Federal Power Commission now has the worst reputation in Washington for selling out to the private interests.

NOTE—The electric power lobby spends more money in Washington than any other to influence Congress—a total of about half a million dollars a year.

Inside The White House

Assistant President - Sherman Adams sent a scorching message to Assistant Secretary of Defense John Hannah, raking him over the coals for prematurely announcing the new reserve military program.

What Hannah let out of the bag is, in effect, a new universal military training, though it's called by another name.

UMT is politically unpopular, so Adams castigated the conscientious assistant secretary of defense for letting out the announcement before the elections. Nothing was supposed to be said until after November.

Adm. Strauss Objects

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS)—Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was depicted in these reports recently as a man with a powerful gift for keeping atomic secrets. Some of the conclusion reached here was the result of talks with associates.

Adm. Strauss objects, and I'm happy to offer his letter in evidence:

"In an article under your by-line which appeared in the Albuquerque Journal, you did me a grave injustice and I am writing because I hope it is unintentional. Referring to me you wrote: 'He is so security-conscious that he frowned on the shipment abroad of radioisotopes used in medical and other research.' Because I believe you to be fair, I am supplying you with the following facts:

"Originally, I came into the atomic program because of my interest in the medical use of radioisotopes—as a possible substitute for radium in the treatment of cancer. This was a number of years before the government was concerned with the atomic energy program.

"On August 30, 1943, the secretary's records of the atomic Energy Commission quote the several commissioners on the subject of exporting radioactive isotopes. I am quoted as follows: 'If the requests are for medical or basic scientific research or instruction purposes, I should like to be voted in approval. If for military or industrial use, I should like to be voted against granting the requests.'

"I will be glad to have the original of this record shown to you when you are in Washington. I

Baering Down on The News

By Arhur "Bugs" Baer

Now that Chairman Mundt brought the subject up let's look at the discard. The man with the velvet gavel said "Somebody was lying."

Mundt is as correct as railroad time. Somebody was lying as sure as fish in the ocean. Was it McCarthy or was it Stevens?

In order to establish academic freedom and domestic neutrality let's monitor the gossip. There are some stuffings in the aftermath. In our rim-fire opinion both gentlemen were lying like bums.

The greatest perjurer of slanted jurisprudence was Titus Oates. Who was the finger during the bloody assizes of Judge Jeffrey. It was Oates' ambition to cut off your head and throw it in your face.

For the neat purposes of this unauthorized bill of particulars we define perjury as the smug pretzel-ing of the truth under oath. The ancient Romans booted the perjurer for a field goal off the Tarpeian Rock. The Greeks embroidered the monogram of Cain on his scorched forehead. The Medes and the Druids banished the perjurer for 11 years.

After-dinner speakers and writers of epigrams are not on their oaths. But a witness in a televised inquisition raises his right hand, lowers his eyebrows and balances his facts at sea level. He swears he will speak the truth, the completely furnished truth and nothing but the truth. Whereupon with the reversible agility of a waltzing mouse he back-tracks along the corkscrew trail and swears he saw whiskers on an oyster, enameled finger-nails on the hands of winged victory and a curve in a clay pipe.

Chairman Mundt intimated there was something rotten this side of Copenhagen and it wasn't last year's snuff.

Did he do anything about it? He was the referee in parliamentary bankruptcy and he handled that gavel like he was afraid he might kill a roach.

With truth upon the scaffold and a lie upon the throne Mr. Chairman Mundt nodded with the hares and affirmed with the hounds. It all seemed as beautiful as a posse following a trail of rose petals.

Which side was lying? We insist on two reliable signatures with every guess.

Try And Stop Me

The first of Oscar Hammerstein's plays to be produced professionally hardly gave promise of the triumphs he was to score later. It was a drama called "The Light" and was produced by his Uncle Arthur in New Haven, Conn., in May 1919. We, his fraternity brothers at Columbia, couldn't promote round-trip fares and other expenses for our whole chapter to attend the premiere, so we drew lots to decide the one frater who would be financed for the expedition. The winner, if such he may be called, wired us—collect—at the conclusion of the opening night's performance. His telegram read, "The Light" will never illuminate Broadway."

At the fifth—and last—performance of "The Light" there were more people on stage than there were in the audience, but the leading lady achieved immortality of a sort midway through Act Two. The script called for her to exclaim, "Everything is falling down around me!"—and at that precise moment she lost her panties. In all the smash hits with which he's been connected, Oscar's never won a bigger laugh.

General's Football Situation Serious

LEXINGTON, Va., July 6 (AP)—Washington and Lee University's "serious" football situation will be talked over here tomorrow at a meeting of university athletic officials and the Athletic Committee of the Board of Trustees.

The player shortage facing Head Coach Carl Wise has become so acute that there have been hints the sport may be dropped. Dropouts and academic deficiencies have so depleted Wise's already small squad that a W&L spokesman said only about 20 players—just 12 of these upperclassmen—are available.

Phils Blank Bucs, 3-0

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—Lefty Curt Simmons, an in-and-out for the first half of the National League season, came up with his best pitching performance in a month tonight to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Potomac Valley Streak Is Halted By Corriganville

Phillips' Eight-Game String Snapped, 6-5

Two winning streaks came to an end yesterday when Corriganville cracked the 10-game string of the Potomac Valley Cubs and the eight-game skein of Hayden Phillips by bagging a 6-5 decision over the County Softball League leaders at Triple Lakes.

The winning rally was staged by the Corgs in the fourth inning when Kline and Thompson homered and "Red" Whitman tripled with a mate aboard. Phillips pitched shut-out ball thereafter but the Cubs were unable to catch the visitors. Bill Thompson was the winning pitcher.

Johnny Price had two singles for Corriganville. Smouse socked a 2-run homer, Phillips had two singles and Ware got a two-bagger for Potomac Valley.

Central Quick Lunch took the measure of Kennell's Mill at the latter place, 8-3. The winners chalked up 12 hits, including three singles by Basilion, Ronnie Cage featured in centerfield. Hasselrode and Hite rapped triples for the losers.

Stringtown took Ellerslie into camp, 11 to 4. Hawkins garnered three hits and B. Shaffer and Breese, homered for Ellerslie. G. Logsdon lapped two doubles and Sager smacked a triple and single to pace the Stringtown swat-smiths.

Charley Day notched his eighth win of the season and the Cumberland Outdoor Club extended its winning streak by six games by downing the Loyal Order of Moose in a Rocking Chair Softball League game yesterday at Allegany Field by the score of 9-6.

A five-run rally decided the issue in the 5th after the Moose had taken a 6-4 lead.

Joe Geatz's homer with one mate aboard and Jack Luttrell's hard smash that brought home two runs highlighted the rally in the 5th frame. Ted Durbin rapped a homer for the O.D.C. in the third while Sam Brady and "Chick" Cabbage banged two-baggers. Cabbage's catch of Porter's liner to right-center was the fielding gem. Jack Cook starred at third base for the winners who completed a pair of snappy double plays. George Geatz slammed a homer and two singles. Jim Angellata collected two hits and Comer and Bell socked doubles for the O.D.C.

The F.O. Eagles moved into the 500 class by scoring their fifth win in 10 starts at the expense of the B.P.O. Elks, 7-4, at Stutcher Field.

Al Sheetz went the route for the Eagles and registered his 4th win against a single setback. Harry Minnick and "Chug" Aman shared four of the Eagles' seven hits. Bill Underdonk blasted a homer, Bob Pence connected for a double and single and Johnny Cox rapped two singles for the Elks.

Jim Rice's diving catch of Jim Roby's foul fly against the left field bank was the outstanding fielding play. The loss was charged to Jim Gaffney who was replaced by Underdonk in the final stanza.

Alston Selects Seven National League Hurlers

Stengel Adds Stone To A. L. All-Stars

CINCINNATI, July 6 (AP)—The rosters for the 1954 major league All-Star game were completed today as Walter Alston of Brooklyn, the only "freshman" manager ever to pilot a team in such competition, filled out the National League squad by selecting seven pitchers, two catchers, four outfielders and four infielders.

The game will be played at Cleveland July 13. The American League has won 12 of 20 previous games but the National League has won the last four.

Unlike Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees, who will be managing the American League all-stars, Alston came as close as possible to dividing his pitching staff equally as between right-handers and southpaws.

Alston named righties Robin Roberts of Philadelphia, Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, Gene Conley of Milwaukee and Marvin Grissom of New York and southpaws Warren Spahn of Milwaukee, Harvey Haddix of St. Louis and Johnny Antonelli of New York.

Stengel first named seven right-handers and only one southpaw to the American League staff but later he added lefty Dean Stone of Washington to the hurlers as one of the replacements for two injured players.

Mickey Vernon, Washington first baseman, was picked as the other replacement after Stengel received word that first baseman Ferris Fain and third baseman George Kell of the Chicago White Sox would be unable to play because of injuries.

Stengel's other pitching choices were southpaw Whitey Ford of the Yankees and right-handers Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon of Cleveland. Bob Keegan and Virgil Trucks of the Chicago White Sox, Bob Porterfield of Washington, Allie Reynolds of the Yankees and Bob Turley of Baltimore.

Others picked by Stengel to complete the American League squad were: catcher — Sherm Lollar, Chicago; infielders — Mickey Vernon, Washington, Jim Finigan, Philadelphia, Nelson Fox, Chicago, Harvey Kuenn, Detroit; outfielders — Larry Doby, Cleveland, Jim Piersall and Ted Williams, Boston.

Cleveland Routs Baltimore, 11-3

CLEVELAND, July 6 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians scored 11 runs in the first inning tonight—a new one-inning high for the American League this season—and beat the Baltimore Orioles 11-3. The Indians sent 16 batters to the plate against Joe Coleman and Mike Blyzka in the big rally which started with a homer by Bill Glynn and included a three-run triple by Wally Westlake.

Times-News and the Jaycees took over the joint leadership of the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday when the 1953 champions defeated the Rotary Club, 11-7, and the Lions knocked the Kiwanis Club off the top rung by whipping the latter to the tune of 12-1.

Frank Valentine turned in a three-hit performance and fanned 15 as the Lions, managed by John Cox and John Daum, shellacked the Kiwanians at Penn Avenue Field. Kiwanis had beaten the Optimists on Monday, 3-1.

Valentine also led his team's 15-hit assault with a triple and two singles while Knippenburg garnered a pair of doubles.

Gene Wilt's triple with the bases loaded in the 6th was the telling blow in the Times-News victory at North End. Jim Beck, relief pitcher, got credit for the win and also aided the cause with three hits in three trips, including a triple. Wilt and Middleton had two hits each. Granigan paced the Rotarians with three hits while Beckward, Weisenberg and Hillegas had two blows each. Smith played a bangup game at short for the losers. Scores:

Amateur Frank Stranahan and five tournament-tested American professionals safely qualified today for 72-hole championship play beginning tomorrow in the British open golf championship at Royal Birkdale.

Stranahan, two-time former British amateur champion from Toledo, O., and 52-year-old Gene Sarazen, the open king 22 years ago, wound up the 36-hole qualifier with 141 totals—four strokes off the gaudy 70-67-137 medal score of Australia's Norman Von Nida.

The other Americans made the 100-man championship field with varying degrees of difficulty. Colorful Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., the No. 1 U. S. choice among British book-makers, added a 75 to yesterday's 73 for a 148 total. Al Watrous of Detroit had a 73-77-150, while Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., just squeezed in with 151s.

The victory was the fifth in a row for the unbeaten league leaders.

Milton Stein headed the Senators' attack with three hits in three official trips. Kenny Yankelevitz hit for the circuit with the bases loaded and Dick Peck also belted a round-tripper.

Peck's one-handed stab of a line drive near second base was the fielding highlight. Score: SENATORS 028 330-18 17 3. ATHLETICS 000 100-1 2 2. Colbert and Cranor. Davis, Moore (5) and Clark.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 6 (INS) — "Life with the Lyons," the motion picture Bebe, Ben, Barbara and Richard Lyon made in London, will be shown in this country in August.

Robert Lippert tells me that he saw it in England where it played to capacity houses.

"Young Richard Lyon will be signed in two minutes," said Lippert. "He's got real talent, he's a good looking boy, and his timing is excellent."

The Lyon family is now making another picture, "The Lyons in Paris." Bebe and Ben will come to Hollywood next month to see Mrs. Phyllis Daniels, Bebe's mother, who hasn't been well — and what a reception they will get.

It's a big week for Dan Dailey. His contract with 20th is renewed for seven more years, and his ex-wife Liz (now Mrs. Hudson McGuire) arrives here in a day or so to amicably (they hope) settle the custody battle over their 6-year-old Dan, III.

Dailey already has leased a house in the hope that he will have the little boy with him for the three summer months.

As these things frequently happen, Dan's first picture of his new deal with 20th is a loanout to MGM for "It's Always Fair Weather," in which he and Gene Kelly will try to out-foot each other.

Florence Chadwick, long distance swim champ, took time off before she left for Vancouver, to introduce me to her future bridegroom, Wally Tabor.

They won't see each other for months so they've made their plans for marriage. As it stands now Florence will go to Nairobi, South Africa, meet her game hunter bridegroom-to-be there, and the wedding ceremony will be performed there. All sounds very romantic.

But as Florence says, from now on she has to pay attention to two big swim meets for which she's scheduled.

Tallulah we'll have with us again, and you can count on never a dull moment when "darling" gets here! She is going to star in "Dear Charles" in October at Huntington Hartford's new Vine Street Theatre. Fred Keating is set to play opposite her.

Tallulah is presently doing "Dear Charles" in stock, and after she appears here she will go on to San Francisco.

Lillian Gish's "A Trip to Bountiful" is another attraction Millionaire Hartford is putting into his new playhouse.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Adolph Spreckels at the Mocambo with his most recent ex, Judy — and sure enough, Kay Spreckels walked in with Hal Hayes. Much to the surprise of all onlookers, including Joe E. Lewis, Kay stopped by Adolph's table and spoke to him and Judy.

Judy Garland and Sid Luft take off Aug. 8 for Europe. They won't be back for three months — just in time for the premiere of "A Star Is Born."

The Frank Berings, of the Ambassador East, will be grandparents in the winter. Their daughter, Nancy, who is married to Frank Pendleton, is expecting a baby.

Ida Lupino is not taking any chances of being separated from Howard Duff. She'll live in La Jolla while he is appearing in "Anniversary Waltz" at the La Jolla Playhouse.

Despite stories out of Lake Tahoe that the Jim Stacks were honeymooning there, Wanda and Jim didn't leave Beverly Hills until Saturday.

Gene Tunney, who has put on pounds, was laughing at Joe E. Lewis' nonsense at the Mocambo. Nice to see Gene again.

At Ciro's Betty Hutton in a party with Kay Starr, Alan Livingston and Kay's first husband, Hal Stanley. Kay had her hand bandaged — said she burned herself cooking. She's out of the hospital after an operation.

Beginning to think Eddie Albert and Margo are a good deal like olives — either you're just crazy about them or you're indifferent. The crowd at Ciro's were all on the enthusiastic side and Eddie and Margo got a big hand.

Melvina Gay, daughter of Melvina and Kenneth McDowney, was married June 27 to Lt. Patrick Meacham Williams. Mel and Ken made the highly successful "The River" in India a few years ago.

Not even New York at the height of its theatrical season has more people than Las Vegas had over the 4th. If the Sands Copa Room had been six times bigger, Frank Sinatra couldn't have accommodated all the people who came to hear him sing.

The producer of Ann Sothern's TV show, her secretary and her whole gang were at El Rancho Vegas to applaud her.

Martha Raye, who has had Mrs. Harry Richman visiting her, crowded them in at the Sahara.

Tony Martin's chums and admirers were at the Flamingo, while Jane Powell did a big business at the Desert Inn.

The Last Frontier, the Thunderbird — all of the spots were crowded to the doors. The 4th is one of the biggest money-making holidays, and people from all over the world come to see the fabulous Vegas. Eddie Fisher was really swamped by autograph seekers.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

BEWARE DEEP FINESSES
YOUR cards of secondary height, such as from the jack down to the eight, must be used efficiently on many occasions when you are up against a first-quality player of a No Trump contract. Just the slightest slip, in wasting one of them at the wrong time or failing to insert it at the right time, may present him with the trick which enables him to make his contract, or perhaps a trick above it. If you are in a tournament, your presentation of any trick to him may mean the difference between your getting a good and bad score on the deal.

In a tournament, a fine declarer, upon seeing the dummy, would conclude that most players in his position would be in that contract. Hence good or bad results would depend on the exact number of tricks taken. So it was incumbent on him to make the best use of his cards of medium height. He did, but the defense did not.

East opened the spade 4, the 5 going on and the K winning. West returned the 6, which brought the 3 and 10, and the A won so that the diamond 2 could be led. After West put on the 4, refusing to "split his honors," the 9 proved big enough to force out the A. East, noting that another spade lead would cost a trick, shifted to the heart 3, on which the 5 was played, the K winning.

West shifted to the heart 9, which the A won. Now West played low again on the diamond 3, which the 8 won. The diamond K, club 3 to the A, diamond K, heart 10 to the Q and the spade Q then gave the declarer a total of eight tricks.

North therefore scored one more than anyone else in the contract, including three tricks in diamonds, whereas the others made only two diamond tricks. This was due to his skillful low finesse made possible by West's refusal to stick in the J or 10 when he should have.

Fulton Lewis Plays Prosecutor

One of the pleasanter reveries of children of all ages is to imagine oneself as prosecutor, raking a squirming witness with scathing wit and overwhelming authority. Half the country, I bet, indulged in this relatively innocent pastime during the hearings, tearing apart the defense of Senator McCarthy or Secretary Stevens (depending on how you looked at it).

Now Fulton Lewis Jr. is playing this little game, and not so innocently either.

John Crosby

hold of the Atomic Energy Commission's 500,000 word transcript of the Oppenheimer hearings and has been playing prosecutor while an associate, Robert Hurleigh, plays witness, both taking their text directly from the transcript.

This makes for lively listening but it borders on the unethical. For one thing, Lewis' explanation of this strange procedure is very brief and, unless you're a better listener than most, not at all clear. "Once again tonight, we'll use Bob Hurleigh as the witness—this time Mr. McCloy. I will take the part of Mr. Roger Robb." Well, that seems fairly explicit in print but it's not at all explicit on the radio. People don't listen to every word that's spoken on the air, especially to Mr. Lewis who has a habit of hashing and rehashing the same old stuff day after day.

The Mr. McCloy he was talking about was John J. McCloy, president of the Chase National Bank, former high commissioner for Germany and a pretty reputable character. Presently the listeners heard the following exchange:

"How long have you been president of the Chase National Bank?"

"A little over a year."

"As far as you know, Mr. McCloy, do you have any employee of your bank who has been for any considerable period of time on terms of rather intimate and friendly association with thieves and safecrackers?"

"No, I don't know of anyone."

"I'd like to ask you a few hypothetical questions, if I might, sir. Suppose you had a branch manager and a friend of his came to him one day and said: 'I have some friends and contacts who are thinking about coming to your bank to rob it. I'd like to talk to you about maybe leaving the vault open some night so they could do it,' and your branch manager rejected the suggestion. Would you expect the branch manager to report the incident?"

"Yes."

"I don't guess there are any limits to how hypothetical a lawyer can go in cross-examination but that must be about as hypothetical as you can get. But that's not the point. It must have been a trying period for Mr. McCloy on the stand, even in secret session. And here it was on the air—Mr. Lewis deliberately selecting the most damaging portion of his testimony—and Mr. McCloy's role was being played by someone else without his consent or knowledge."

Many people—some of whom wrote me—got the idea that this was Mr. McCloy on the air and that Fulton Lewis was making a fool of him. This is hardly fair, which is not surprising since Mr. Lewis is not exactly noted for his fairness. But I think the impersonation of responsible, living citizens by actors (or associates) without their approval is an unwarranted intrusion on their privacy and faintly illegal. I can think of no precedent for it and I hope this doesn't set one.

Speaking of prominent citizens, I have another complaint. A good many of the cast of characters connected with the McCarthy hearings apparently didn't get enough television during that lengthy circus and are running no limit to what they'll do either. Senator Mundt was the mystery guest on "What's My Line?" Senator Jackson, all dressed up and bewigged as George Washington was mystery guest on "Masquerade Party." Ray Jenkins popped up on "The Breakfast Club." Any minute now I expect to hear that Roy Cohn got married on "Bride and Groom."

Council To Get Crosstown Route Report Monday

City Asked To Match Federal Aid Funds

A report on a proposed agreement between the Maryland State Roads Commission and the City of Cumberland for the construction of the $10,000,000 crosstown viaduct expressway plan will be presented to the Mayor and Council next Monday morning.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum were asked yesterday to study a draft of the agreement forwarded to the city by the SRC, and to present their report Monday.

The agreement which was read to the Mayor and Council yesterday points out that the SRC will prepare plans and specifications needed to qualify the work as a federal aid project.

The Commission is to assume the full responsibility for construction of the project and must secure rights of way, with land costs considered a part of the project, with the exception of any city-owned land.

Federal assistance will be requested, and funds available through 1957, amounting to about $490,000, will be used toward construction.

The city would make available, from state-shared gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenues, $70,000 each year from 1954 to 1960, to match the Federal Urban Aid funds.

It was pointed out that the city's contribution in the seven years would total $490,000. This would come from an estimated $633,987.16, which the city would get as its share of state gas, oil and motor vehicle taxes, leaving about $143,987.16 to apply toward the upkeep of the city's streets.

Traffic Signals Needed
The proposal also calls for the city to assume the cost of relocating or installing any public utilities, to install and maintain traffic signals needed on the routes, pay the costs of installing automatic signals on Henderson Avenue, and adjust Baltimore Street traffic lights to meet the new traffic requirements.

Cumberland is also being asked to prohibit parking on Centre and Mechanic streets from Baltimore to Williams streets, to close to traffic two streets at the intersections of the Central Avenue approach of the viaduct, and to install and maintain lights along the new routes.

SRC To Maintain
Maintenance of the new traffic routes would be the SRC's responsibility. The commission is asking the city to take over maintenance of Henderson Avenue—but the city would secure additional revenues for upkeep of the extra mileage.

The SRC has pointed out it is urgent that an early decision be made both in order to qualify for all available federal aid funds and to keep the project in the 12-year plan.

The plan proposed by the State Roads Commission follows recommendations made by the 1949-1950 traffic study of Cumberland. It includes the crosstown expressway to bypass both railroads, and modern highways, to meet for most of their lengths, to connect in South Cumberland with Oldtown Road and on the West Side with Brad-dock Road.

Duties Shifted As New Council Takes Office

Keegan Is Appointed Police Commissioner

Cumberland's first four-year administration took office yesterday morning with a general shifting, by unanimous action, of assignments among the four commissioners.

The new administration is headed by Mayor Roy W. Eves, who is beginning his second term as chief executive; William V. Keegan, commissioner of police and fire; William J. Edwards, water and electric light; William H. Buchholtz, streets and public property, and John J. Long, finance.

Thomas B. Finan was reappointed city solicitor by unanimous vote of the Mayor and Council.

The oath of office was administered by Circuit Court Clerk Joseph E. Boden at an informal inauguration ceremony held in the packed council chamber.

Commissioner Keegan is moving back into the Police and Fire post which he held in two terms between 1945 and 1950. He served as finance commissioner in the administration which ended yesterday morning.

Commissioner Edwards, who will continue to serve as commissioner of water and electric light, was the only member of the council to remain in the same post as the new council took office.

Commissioner Buchholtz, the only new face on the council, was appointed commissioner of streets and public property. He succeeds Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, who had served two terms in the post but lost out on July 15 in an effort to unseat Mayor Eves. He is a veteran.

Baltimore Youth Will Be Tried On Auto Charges

A Baltimore youth will be given a hearing this morning in Trial Magistrate's Court on four alleged motor vehicle violations which occurred Saturday night.

Police are holding Donald Ray Townsend, 17, of 1903 Patterson Park Avenue, who was nabbed late Saturday night by Officer Charles W. Thompson, who was off duty at the time.

Officer Thompson, who was returning from a drive-in theater with his wife, was traveling up Centre Street. He said the Townsend youth admitted to City Police Detective Roy C. Hawse that he had stolen the car of a salesman, which had been parked near the Viaduct Inn.

Police said the youth drove the car from the parking place and when he came to the corner of Frederick and Centre streets he turned left down Centre. After hitting two cars and pickup truck, the car came to a stop.

Officer Thompson, in the line of traffic, said he noticed the incident and when the youth climbed out of the car and fled, he gave chase and apprehended him.

Just about the time Officer Thompson nabbed the boy, a call was received at Police Headquarters that the car had been stolen.

However, firemen from East Side checked a grass fire resulting from the premature demolition. The firemen and equipment, which would have been on duty for the show had not arrived prior to the excitement.

Caldara said two test shells were fired to get the direction of the wind and to determine the best place to set off the display. He said that after the first shell was fired the wind changed and burning paper from the second shell floated into the fireworks and set them off. The entire display was destroyed.

Party Members Also May File As Independents

Election Board Obtains Opinion

Republicans and Democrats as well as registered independents may file as independent candidates for county offices in Maryland, W. Giles Parker, assistant attorney general, asserted yesterday.

William A. Wilson, chairman of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, talked with Parker by telephone yesterday and got his verbal opinions on the matter. A written opinion soon will follow, Parker promised.

Wilson said there was much discussion here about Section 146 A (a) of the Registration and Election Laws of Maryland since A. Lee Marple, Cumberland business man, announced that he was circulating necessary petitions so he can run as an independent candidate November 2 for county commissioner. He needs 750 petition signers by the fourth Monday in July, which is July 26.

Marple is registered as an independent. The election laws make clear that a defeated candidate in a primary election may not subsequently file as an independent in the general election.

Parker told Wilson that there is no such limitation upon a successful candidate in a primary election. That question has been broached because it has been rumored that one Democrat successful in the June 28 election may file as an independent candidate for the House of Delegates.

He notified City Police Detectives Leo E. P. Law and Charles Cubbage who immediately went to the scene and separated. They said they waited around for about an hour and saw the two younger boys drive by and park near a restaurant.

Following questioning by the two detectives, the boys reportedly admitted taking part in the incident.
